

present:

African Americans, Research & Our Future

Understanding precision medicine and the All of Us Research Program.

A community conversation.

Join us for a critical community conversation about the evolving world of research, precision medicine, what this means for African Americans, and the efforts of the national All of Us Research Project to expand solutions for improving community health. We will be joined by expert guests and Ms. Veronica Robinson, Great Granddaughter of Henrietta Lacks, a Black woman whose life changed the field of medicine. Register now for this FREE event.

Saturday, August 29, 2020
11 am - 1 pm

SPEAKERS:

Dr. Goldie Byrd

Wake Forest School of Medicine

Ms. Veronica Robinson

Great-Granddaughter of Henrietta Lacks

Dr. Karriem Watson

University of Illinois-Chicago

Ms. Annie Weatherby-Flowers

Madison Public Library

Moderator: Ms. Lisa Peyton-Caire

Foundation for Black Women's Wellness

REGISTER NOW:

www.ffbww.org/event/allofus

