

VACCINE HESITANCY IN THE AFRICAN AMERICAN COMMUNITY

Join us for a Zoom discussion, “Vaccine Hesitancy in the African American Community,” hosted by the Madison Senior Center and a group of UW-Madison Students, featuring guest speaker: Dr. Eva Vivian.

Dr. Vivian will discuss:

- The staggering disparity in COVID-19 health outcomes among African American communities in the US.
- Why African Americans are uniquely at risk for developing complications of COVID-19 due to social determinants of health.
- Why COVID-19 vaccination is important for members of the African American community in Madison, WI.

WHEN: APRIL 19TH AT 3:00 PM

WHERE: ZOOM

COST: FREE

TO REGISTER FOR THE FREE PROGRAM. EMAIL GFLESHER@CITYOFMADISON.COM OR CALL 608-266-6581.

Eva Vivian, PharmD, MS, PhD currently works as a researcher and professor at the University of Wisconsin - Madison School of Pharmacy. Her research focuses on community disease prevention, working with members of under-resourced communities to promote positive health outcomes and eliminate health disparities.

LEARN MORE ABOUT
COVID-19

